

SQUAMISH • BRITISH COLUMBIA

Paradise ALLEY

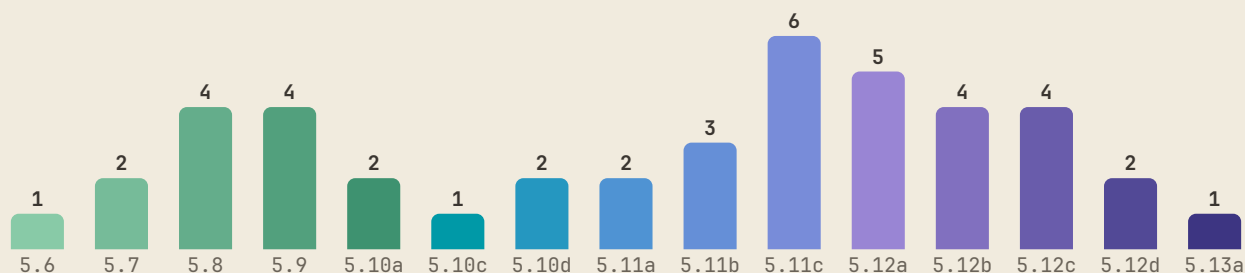

46 routes • 8–24 m • Bolted sport climbing on granite

TOTAL ROUTES
46 sport routes

ROUTE LENGTH
8 – 24 m

APPROACH
1.3 km • 80 m gain •
20 min

GRADE DISTRIBUTION

BUILT WITH SUPPORT FROM THE SEA-TO-SKY BOLT FUND

SEA TO SKY
BOLT FUND
SOCIETY

The hardware on this route was funded by the Sea to Sky Bolt Fund. We are a non-profit society that donates climbing hardware directly to route developers, helping make quality routes a reality for the whole community.
SEATOSKYCLIMBING.CA

DONATE NOW

A large share of the bolts at Paradise Alley came from the fund. Please support future development.

→ DONATE TO THE BOLT FUND

COMPILED BY ALEX RYAN TUCKER

Approach & Overview

Getting there, what to expect, and other-user etiquette.

PARKING

Drive north from Squamish on Highway 99. Shortly before reaching Chek Canyon, you cross the Big Orange Bridge over Culliton Creek. The parking is 1.5 km after this bridge — a large gravel pullout on the left side.

CAUTION

Do not turn directly into it across the highway — an accident could result in the parking being shut down. Instead, drive up to the salt sheds just north of Chek, turn around there, and drive back south. It comes up quick — slow down early.

You can also get there by bike via the Sea to Sky trail. 25 minutes from downtown Squamish by car.

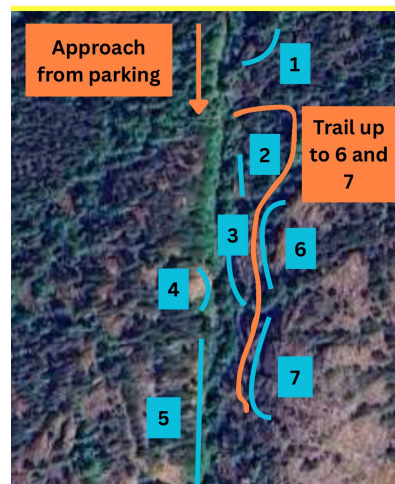

→ PIN FOR PARKING

APPROACH (1.3 KM • 80 M ELEVATION)

Head past the yellow gate and follow the logging road with powerlines along it. After 10–15 minutes you will see another logging road heading uphill to the left, across a small ditch — the powerline splits off this way. Follow it to the crag. 20 minutes.

Aerial view — orange line shows the approach.

Crag overview — wall numbers

OTHER INFORMATION

Loose rock. Like all new areas, loose rock is a hazard and some climbs may be a little dusty.

Shared trails. The area is used by other recreationalists including trials bikers, hunters, and hikers — please be respectful of them.

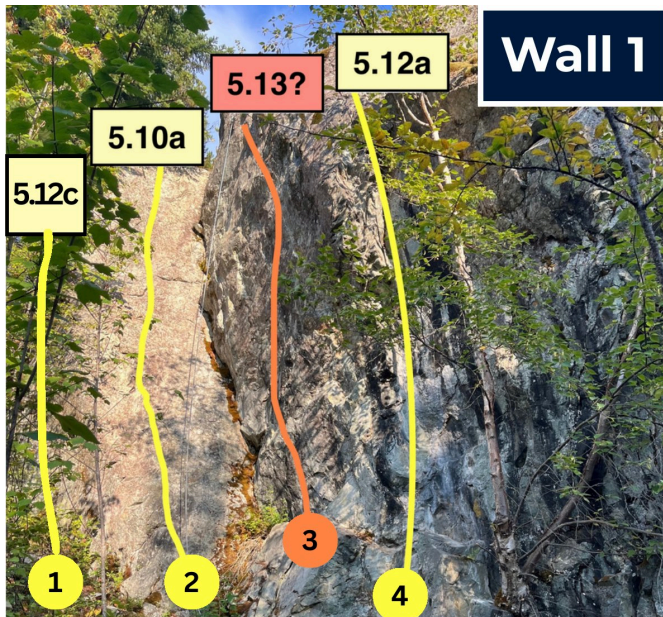

Ticks. Like Cat Lake and Area 44, ticks are common — especially in the spring.

Top-rope access. Easiest for Wall 5. Scramble up the loose gully on the right or walk around the left. Use trees to access the edge safely.

WALL 1

Operation Fiscal

Four routes on the prominent face left of the corner system.

- 1 Operation Fiscal Jackhammer 5.12c
Combine intricate technique, brute force, and a brave spirit to defeat this climb.
Liam Church, 2025
- 2 Kickstart Some Crime 5.10a
Thin face climbing up the slab.
Liam Church, 2024
- 3 Open Project OPEN PROJECT
Prep: Liam Church
- 4 Señor Leñador 5.12a
Short and punchy. Climb the aesthetic corner and attempt to decipher its bouldery crux.
Liam Church, 2024

WALL 2

Hammer Time

A single standout line on smooth stone.

- 5 Hammer Time 5.11c
A trickier-than-expected bottom section leads into powerful moves on smooth stone with a satisfying finish.
Peter Suke, 2025

WALL 3

Magic Bullet

The biggest concentration of moderates — seven routes packed together.

- 6

The Matter Baby 5.12a

Tricky over the bulge to great face climbing on small edges.

Rick Willison, 2023
- 7

Magic Bullet 5.11c

Maybe the best route here? Get on it.

Rick Willison, 2023
- 8

Algorithm Schism 5.10d

The corner leads to a tough crux to finish.

Rick Willison, 2023
- 9

Rubber Bandit 5.8

Some fun climbing around bulges.

Rick Willison, 2023
- 10

Neural Garden 5.9

Fun, easy climbing.

Rick Willison, 2023
- 11

Crimpanzee 5.11b

Easy climbing to a deceptively hard crux.

Rick Willison, 2023
- 12

Safety in Numbers 5.12a

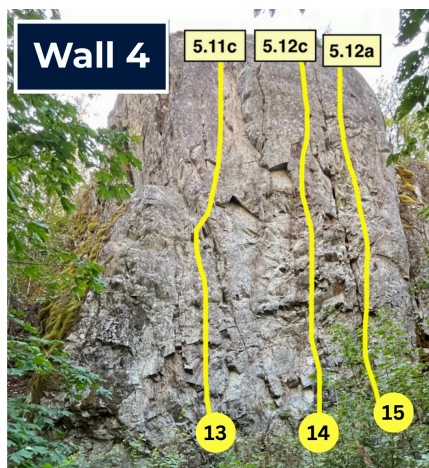

Tricky climbing most of the way. Lots of bolts — maybe too many!

Rick Willison, 2023

WALL 4

Layer Cake

Three lines on a steep block — a mix of slab and crimp.

- 13

Layer Cake 5.11c

Hard move off the ground and a tricky first half. The slabby second half is chef's kiss!

Rick Willison, 2023
- 14

The Gunslinger 5.12c

Hard, thin climbing at the start leads to easier climbing and a nice crack feature. Not bad.

Rick Willison, 2023
- 15

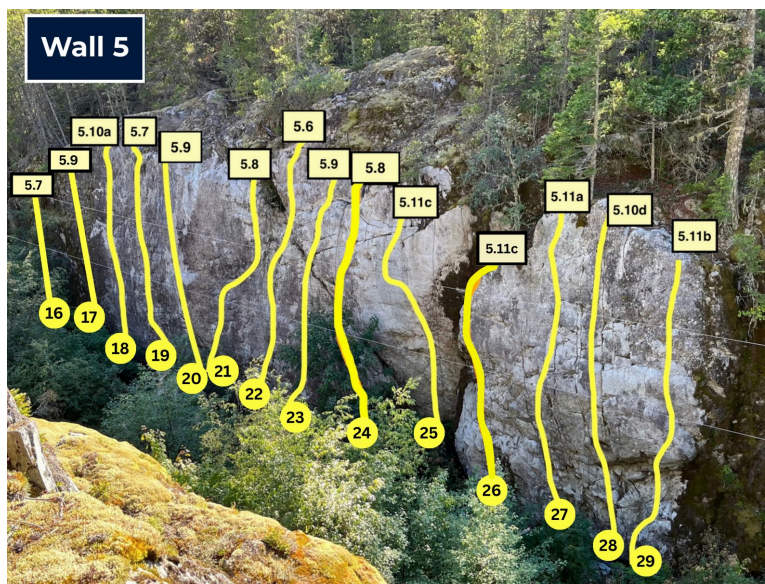

Sucker for Punishment 5.12b

Maybe the worst climb here? Pretty good climbing higher up is marred by a terrible start on bad rock. You've been warned.

Rick Willison, 2023

Spoonerisms

The crag's centerpiece — fourteen routes from beginner jugs to hard 5.11.

- 16 Bodhi Boy 5.7
Plenty of jugs on one of the easiest routes in the area.
Ryan MacDonald, 2025
- 17 Nighthawcracy 5.9
Work up the face, easy climbing at the top.
Art Bass
- 18 No Country for Bold Men 5.10a
Work up the face on small holds and thin seams to reach the easier top half.
Alex Ryan Tucker, 2023
- 19 Feeble Knievel 5.7
Follow the left-leaning crack, taking advantage of the generous hand and footholds all around it.
Georgia Dow, 2024
- 20 Peeling Fumped 5.9
Trend up and left to a thin finish where the holds shrink away from you.
Alex Ryan Tucker, 2023
- 21 Spoonerisms 5.8
Follow good holds through the bottom section then move right at a crux to reach an easy finish.
Nicky Price, 2023
- 22 Rubber Dinghy Rapids 5.6
Flow up the rippling jugs. A great beginner route.
Alex Ryan Tucker, 2023
- 23 Figure Eighted and Elated 5.9
Good face climbing on some interesting holds.
Paola Ferrari, 2024
- 24 Less Talking More Chalking 5.8
Start up the wide crack on good but sometimes hidden holds, then break up the face to finish.
Alex Ryan Tucker, 2025
- 25 Drunken Sailor 5.11c
A burly lower section and crimpy, balancy crux make for a nice contrast on this route.
Liam Church, 2024
- 26 It's A Trap 5.11c
The difficulties are shortlived but real on this one, but close bolting makes it approachable.
Prep Willow Rigsby/Alex RT, FA Alex, 2025
- 27 Not So Neato Mosquito 5.11a
Resist the barn door on the lower section, then get ready for a tricky slab finish.
Pao Ferrari, 2024
- 28 PO 5.10d
Climb up to a burly crux through the small roof. There are many ways to tackle it.
Willow Rigsby, 2024
- 29 Under the Wire 5.11b
The overlap offers a slopey crux, which is significantly harder than the rest of the route.
Alex Ryan Tucker, 2023

WALL 6

Birds of Paradise

The marquee wall — features the area's hardest line.

- 30 Squishy Boots 5.8

Small but positive holds up the ramp. Fun!

Rick Willison, 2023

34 Downstairs Paradise 5.12d

Link Downstairs Mixup into the top of Birds of Paradise.

Rick Willison, 2025
- 31 Electric Souper Man 5.11a

A physical start then move left onto the face. Some may say contrived — they'd be right.

Rick Willison, 2023

35 Birds of Paradise 5.13a

Thin, delicate climbing on small holds to a big move from the slot and an easier finish. Very good.

Rick Willison, 2025
- 32 The Nightmare of Milky Joe 5.11b

Follow good holds up the crack. Clip a bolt out left, then traverse to a jug near the arete.

Rick Willison, 2023

36 Threat Level Midnight 5.12a

Another great route on really nice rock.

Rick Willison, 2024
- 33 The Downstairs Mixup 5.11c

Excellent holds and great movement up the face. Great.

Rick Willison, 2023

37 Shabooya Roll Call 5.12b

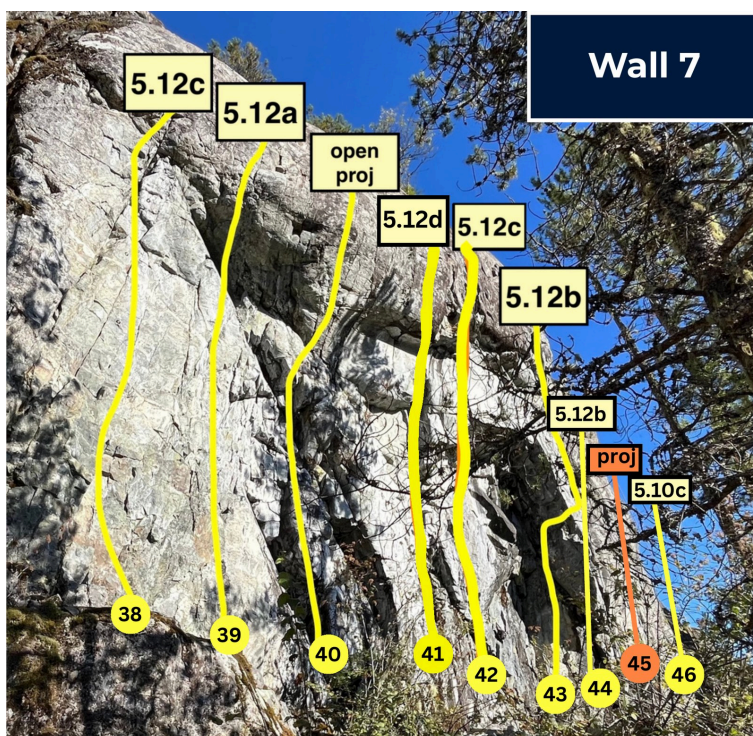

It may be harder. Shares some holds with TLM.

Rick Willison, 2024

WALL 7

View from the Top

Steep, harder climbing — the wall's last routes wrap around the corner.

- 38 View from the Top 5.12c
The crux at the lip is harder than it looks from the ground!
Rick Willison, 2023
- 39 Hilltop Grouse 5.12a
Surprisingly easier than its neighbour to the left.
Rick Willison, 2023
- 40 Open Project OPEN PROJECT
Prep Rick Willison
- 41 Molly's Crab Trap 5.12d
Steep and hard to read, but pretty nice once you work it out.
Rick Willison, 2025
- 42 Tiers in Rain 5.12c
Tricky start into a cool roof feature. Engaging the whole way. Excellent!
Rick Willison, 2025
- 43 Gorilla Kibble 5.12b
Up the corner and around onto the face, where a shouldery crux awaits.
Alex Ryan Tucker, 2024
- 44 Bitin' List 5.12b
A hard crux down low above the little roof, and a crimpy one to pass the bulge up high.
Alex Ryan Tucker, 2025
- 45 In development CLOSED PROJECT
Alex Ryan Tucker
- 46 Hot Salad 5.10c
A weird start up the gully leads to a lovely face climb and the best view at the crag.
Alex Ryan Tucker, 2026

Hilltop Grouse is named for the many grouse we encountered and heard while developing the crag. In spring, you will often hear the hooting of sooty grouse, which sounds like someone blowing across the opening of a large jug. This is the male's mating call.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First, a massive thank you to the friends who supported with scrubbing, belaying, and maintaining the stoke. Seeing them enjoying the early routes while they were still covered in dirt and the crag a mess reassured us that we weren't wasting your time and that the wall isn't a total pile of choss.

We are also very grateful to everyone who supports the Sea-to-Sky Bolt Fund, and to Peter Winter who administered the fund while we were working on the crag. We self-funded some routes, but a large share of bolts came from the fund. Without it, developing this many routes would have been impossible — particularly on a student budget. We hope that the wide range of grades means that supporters of all ages and abilities can enjoy this new zone. Please support the fund by donating at the QR code below or clicking the donate button at this link.

END OF GUIDE · CLIMB SAFE · PACK IT OUT

Reformatted by @zaymonoid